LOGBOOK · SEPTEMBER 2026

Monday to Friday	Date: September 2026
	1. What did I complete since the last standup?	• During this month, the focus moved from observing to gradually assisting with system-related issues. • Observing how IT-related problems are identified and reported. • Learning how to gather information before investigating an issue. • Gradually assisting with system-related problems under guidance. • Understanding the importance of communication between IT support and employees. • Learning why technical issues should be investigated carefully rather than solved through guesswork.
	Weekly reflection	September helped me develop a better understanding of practical IT support. I became more familiar with the process of identifying problems, understanding their impact on users and seeking assistance when necessary. I also learned that not every technical problem has an immediate solution and that teamwork is important in resolving workplace issues.
